Acquisition:

This collection likely originated in a house and stable owned by descendants of John Whitcomb, and was reassembled and given to the Penobscot Marine Museum by Ellsworth historian Mark E. Honey. The first batch of papers were removed from an unnamed Ellsworth stable by a student at Maine Maritime Academy in 1995 and stored at the Academy's Nutting Memorial Library until they were discovered, cleaned, and inventoried by Honey in 2002, and subsequently donated to the Penobscot Marine Musuem. Honey then traced more documents to a stable owned by Elizabeth Whitney, and arranged, with Ellsworth businessman Marc Blanchette, to purchase and donate these to PMM. Honey subsequently tracked several account books that had been sold to antiques dealers and donated these to the museum in 2004 and 2005. The final part of this collection, a folder of bills of sale for vessels purchased by the firm, was donated by Ralph Stanley.

Restrictions

This collection is open for research. There are no special restrictions.

Condition:

Many documents are in good condition, but some have minor to serious damage from dirt, mold, mice, or insects. Bindings on volumes may be fragile.

Processing Note:

This collection has not yet been arranged. With the help of several student assistants, Mark E. Honey cleaned, flattened, and inventoried most of this collection before it arrived at the Penobscot Marine Museum. He did not alter the arrangement from that of the boxes stored at Maine Maritime Academy. Subsequent processing has also not yet addressed arrangement, so documents are grouped by accession rather than type.

Historical Note:

Whitcomb, Haynes & Whitney was one of the last major lumbering firms operating in the Union River Valley in Hancock County, Maine. It was founded by John Whitcomb (1838-1913) and his brother-in-law, Charles Haynes (1835-1916) on their return from the Civil War. Whitcomb's nephew, John O. Whitney (1855-1919), joined the firm in 1875.

The company started as a general store in Ellsworth Falls, Maine, but quickly expanded to all aspects of the lumber industry. The partners purchased acres of timberland, at one point becoming the largest timbering landowners in Hancock and Washington counties. They outfitted lumbering camps and log drives from their store, and processed the cut timber in their own lumber mill and barrel stave factory in Ellsworth Falls. Finally, they owned a fleet of schooners to transport timber and lumber products to markets in Boston, New York, the West Indies, and Canada, and a tug, the ROUND TOP, to bring vessels up the Union River to Ellsworth.

Whitcomb, Haynes and Whitney was sold in 1929. It continued to operate for a time as the Ellsworth Forest Products Corporation.

Scope and Content:

This collection primarily consists of bills, accounts, order records, and other business records of Whitcomb, Haynes & Whitney, a vertically-integrated lumber firm in Ellsworth, Maine. It covers most aspects of the firm's extensive business, including lumber orders and sales, inventories and account books for the firm's general stores, land deeds and tax records, records from the lumber mills and stave factory, shipping and operating papers from the firm's fleet of schooners, and years of detailed bills. There are also records of subsidiary activities on Whitcomb, Haynes & Whitney's extensive timberlands, including blueberry raking, eel harvesting, and mining. The bulk of the collection is from the early twentieth century, but some material dates back to the 1870s.

The extent and detail preserved in this collection touch on broad swaths of coastal Maine life. Records from the lumber mills, barrel stave factory, and general store show labor patterns and industrial details for the lumber industry, from cutting wood to log drives to milling. The general store account books record clothing, tools, food, and other material details of life in logging camps, on lumber schooners, and in coastal communities in general. There are detailed records of the operations of a coastal lumber fleet, as well as the changing relationship between rail and water transportation in the early twentieth century.
